VERY BOLD ROBBER.

Entered Cabin of Sharpie Early Yesterday Morning and Stole $85 in Cash From the Captain.

An unknown colored thief early yesterday morning broke into the cabin of the sharpie Ruth Darling, which was tied up at the wharf opposite the new market house, and stole a pair of pants in the pockets of which there was about $85 in greenback and coin. It was the boldest theft that has been reported at police headquarters for sometime, as the trousers were stolen from under the head of the sharpie's captain, Simon Davis, who was asleep on his bunk.

Capt. Davis had just disposed of a cargo of watermelons, which he had brought up from Walnut Creek, Brunswick county, and the amount stolen was the proceeds of the sale. The trousers, with the money, were put under his head the night previous for safe keeping, and he was awakened yesterday morning by the footsteps of a negro, whom he saw making his way to the wharf with the stolen property. Capt. Davis, in his sleeping apparel, immediately gave chase to the fleeing thief up Market street to "Fink's alley, where the trousers, minus the money, were dropped and the negro lost sight of.

Officers were immediately put on track of the robber but no arrest followed. The only clue to the direction the negro took was information that he had been seen about 7 o'clock at Mr. Wm. Turley's store, on Fourth street between Harnett and Swann. He displayed a roll of money in making a small purchase at the store and stated that he was going to leave in a few hours for Washington, D. C.

Race Friday Afternoon.

The Carolina Yacht Club will have their last race for the season on Friday of this week. All yachts will be entered by Thursday evening. There will be a dance on Friday night.

PROF. EDWARD VANLAER.

Died in Presbyterian Hospital in Philadelphia Yesterday—Funeral and Interment Here This Afternoon.

A host of friends in Wilmington yesterday heard with profound sorrow of the death of Prof. E. Van Laer, which occurred yesterday morning at the Presbyterian Hospital in Philadelphia, where he was taken for treatment only a few days before his demise.

Prof. VanLaer had been in failing health for some time, and those more thoroughly acquainted with him knew that it was only a question of time when the dread disease, consumption, with which he was afflicted, would prove fatal.

Deceased was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, of which he was a faithful attendant and a valued member. A wife, two daughters and one son survive him. They are Mrs. G.W. Cherry, of Florence, S. C.; Miss Louise VanLaer, of this city and Mr. Robert E. VanLaer, of New York, all of whom have the tenderest sympathy of many friends and acquaintances.

The deceased was born in Dusseldorf, Prussia, September 27th, 1844, and was therefore in the fifty-fifth year of his age. When about thirteen years of age, he came to New York and about thirty years ago he removed to Wilmington. On June 26th, 1871, he was married to Miss Matilda Schulken, and has since resided here with the exception of three years spent in Salem, New Jersey, as professor of music in the Salem Conservatory. When he first came to Wilmington he taught in General Ransom's school of music. Later he was musical director in Dr. Bernheim's school and has for the past several years conducted a wholesale and retail music establishment at 402-404 North Fourth street.

Besides his wife and children who survive him here, he has two sisters and one brother living in Prussia and a number of relatives residing in New York.

The remains will arrive here on the Atlantic Coast Line at 9:45 o'clock this morning and the funeral will be conducted by Dr. Hoge, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church this afternoon at 5 o'clock from the late residence on Fourth street. The interment will be at Oakdale cemetery.

THE WATCH STEALING CASE.

State Failed to Sustain Charge Against Negro Arrested Friday.

Jno. Brown, the negro arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Flynn and Bland Friday afternoon on suspicion of having stolen a watch from one of the Selma excursionists, was arraigned in Justice McGowan's court yesterday for an investigation. The negro had for his counsel Brooke G. Empie, Esq., and as the State, as prosecutor, failed to sustain the charge against the prisoner, he was released. He assigned as his reason for running when approached by the officers that he had been an onlooker at a game of crap in Dross Neck a few hours before and he thought he was probably wanted for gambling. Brown is a brakeman on one of the freight trains running into Wilmington.

Justice McGowan also tried John Carroll, colored, yesterday for disorderly conduct. The prosecution was adjudged a malicious one, and the prosecutor required to pay the costs.

The East Carolina Real Estate Agency will sell for cash, or will exchange for desirable house and lot in Wilmington, a farm of 272 acres, three miles from Rose Hill. Address R. G. Grady & Co., Burgaw, N. C. †

AFTER NINETEEN YEARS.

Mr. W. T. Gentry, Superintendent of Construction, Re-visits Wilmington. Exchange Improvements.

Mr. W. T. Gentry, general superintendent of construction for the territory of the Southern Bell Telephone Company including seven States—Virginia, West Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Alabama—is in the city and on Wrightsville Beach.

He is here with Mr. M. B. Speir, Superintendent for North and South Carolina, inspecting the Wilmington exchange, especially the extensive improvement recently made and now in progress in the way of new cables and poles which is being done under the direction of Manager F. L. Woodruff.

Especial interest attaches to this visit by Mr. Gentry to Wilmington for the reason that it is his first trip here since he left the city nineteen years ago, having served three years as chief operator in the Western Union Telegraph office prior to that time, when the telegraph office was in the old First National Bank building, which occupied the site on which the new Masonic Temple is now being erected.

After leaving here Mr. Gentry became manager of the Atlanta Bell Telephone Exchange, and advanced steadily in promotion, having been elected superintendent of construction about three years ago.

He is much pleased and surprised at the great industrial progress made by Wilmington since he was last here.

It is probable that Mr. Gentry and Mr. Speir will both spend several days in the city.

Referring to the Wilmington Exchange improvements, it will be of interest to state that the work now estimated will probably be completed within about two months. New poles, sixty, seventy and seventy-five feet in hight, are being placed on Princess, Fourth, Orange, Third, Ann and elsewhere. New cables are also being placed on Princess and other streets.

COUNTY SCHOOL AFFAIRS.

Committeemen Organized Yesterday for Two Districts—Examination On Next Saturday.

Captain Manning, the county superintendent, yesterday organized the school committeemen of two other districts in compliance with the general school law. The committees in their organized form are as follows:

District No. 14, Harnett Township—Jas. T. Canady, chairman; Jno. D. Woody, secretary; Stephen Sneeden, vice W. L. Rogers, resigned.

There now is but one district in the county yet to organize—No. 9, Federal Point township. The teachers have for the most part been selected in Harnett and Cape Fear townships, and the school machinery of the entire county will be in perfect working order within a very short time.

The examination for scholarship in the A. & M. College will be conducted by Captain Manning next Saturday.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM

Local Observer W. H. Fallon Talks About the Progress of the Hurricane.

HAS BEEN MUCH UNEASINESS.

Mr. Fallon Thinks If the Storm Reaches Here With Any Force at All It Will Not be Before To-night—The Storm Warnings.

Since Friday when bulletins regarding the hurricane that has been devasting the West Indies began to come in, much uneasiness has been manifested by Wilmington people and seasiders. The dispatches indicated that the storm was moving in this direction and that it might reach the South Atlantic coast Friday or Saturday. Many were on the qui vive for information of the hurricane and cyclone insurance men did some extra business on the strength of the bulletins.

A reporter for the STAR saw Mr. Fallon, the local observer, after his 10 o'clock observation last night, and he said there was no cause for alarm on the part of the Wilmington people. The storm, he added, is making further progress toward the South Florida coast. Gales were prevailing at 8 o'clock at Jupiter and Key West. Local storms have also occurred over Georgia and the Central Gulf States.

The following velocity and direction of the winds at the various points were reported last night: Augusta, 28, N. W.; Jupiter, 36, N. E.; New Orleans, 28, N.; Montgomery, 34, N. E.; Key West, 32, N. W.

The following storm warnings were sent out by the Chief of the Weather Bureau yesterday at the hours indicated:

WASHINGTON, D. C., 11.40 A. M.—Hoist hurricane signals eleven forty A. M., Cedar Keys, Jacksonville, Savannah, Charleston. Hurricane centre approaching Jupiter, moving northwest. Dangerous northeast gales and high sea indicated for the Georgia and South Carolina coast tonight and will begin on the North Florida coast this afternoon.

WASHINGTON, August 11. 5.45 P. M.—Hoist storm northeast signals, Wilmington, Morehead, Washington, Norfolk section, Norfolk. Storm centre near Jupiter, moving northwest. Winds will shift to northeast and become high during Sunday.

Mr. Fallon says that if Wilmington is to have a call from the unwelcome visitor from the Antilles, she will not have an opportunity of greeting her unbidden guest before to-night.

Two Accidents Yesterday.

Last evening about dusk Mr. John Hubanks, who has recently moved to the city and has a position at the Atlantic Coast Line yards, was riding up Seventh street, when he ran his wheel into the side of a moving electric car on the corner of Seventh and Orange streets. The rider was thrown violently to the ground and the front of his wheel completely demolished. Mr. Hubank received several severe bruises about the body and limbs and had to be sent to his home on the corner of Sixth and Ann streets, where Dr. Shepard dressed his wounds. No blame is attached to the motorman or conductor of the car. Near the same place yesterday afternoon a negro woman with a baby in her arms attempted to jump from a moving car and was slightly injured.

The Local Quarantine.

The lifting of the quarantine against Newport News, Hampton and other places by Norfolk health authorities did not effect the local quarantine regulations here yesterday. Dr. McMillan says the quarantine against Norfolk can be made no stricter but it will be maintained for a number of days yet. Knight's colored excursion is due to leave here to-morrow for Norfolk and Dr. McMillan says all passengers on this train will be furnished, by request, health certificates and that health certificates from Norfolk authorities will be required when they return.

Justice Fowler's Court.

Wm. Brown, colored, was committed to jail yesterday by Justice Fowler in default of $100 bond to keep the peace for ninety days toward his wife, Mary Brown. The negro, at the session of New Hanover Criminal Court just ended, was married to escape judgment in a case pending against him there and has not lived with his wife since. Wm. Johnson, colored, was also committed by Justice Fowler yesterday for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He will be tried to-morrow.

Multi-Millionaire Here.

Mr. H. M. Flagler of New York, one of the largest stockholders in the Standard Oil Company and widely known a multi-millionaire, arrived in the city yesterday and went down to Wrightsville Beach, where he is the guest of Major E. W. Van Court Lucas, at his cosy cottage adjacent to the Atlantic yacht club. Mr. Flagler is travelling in his private car which is luxuriously furnished and supplied with a corps of competent servants. He expects to spend several days here.

Heavy Travel Yesterday.

The week-end travel to this city and Wrightsville and Carolina beaches was quite heavy yesterday, so much so that both Seashore and Ocean View hotels, on Wrightsville Beach, and Oceanic Hotel, on Carolina Beach, are taxed to their utmost capacity. The popularity of these seaside resorts increases as the season advances. Lack of space will not admit of the publication of the names of yesterday's arrivals.

AT CAMP KENAN.

Members of First Battalion Boys' Brigade of America Having a Delightful Encampment.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

CAMP "KENAN," CAROLINA BEACH, N. C., August 12.—The First Battalion, Boys' Brigade of America, arrived in camp yesterday at 4 o'clock P. M. with every member present. "Happy Ned" had everything in good shape, as stated in the STAR of yesterday. The street name of the camp is "White," in honor of the gallant commander of the W. L. I., Capt. C. H. White.

We wish to thank the business men for allowing their employes who are members of the brigade the opportunity of attending the encampment, and we hope when the encampment is over that the boys will return to their respective places of duty with renewed determination and energy, thereby showing due appreciation.

The guard detail last night was as follows: Officer of the day, Capt. E. P. Dudley; sergeant of the guard, Sergeant C. C. Loughlin; corporal of the guard, Private James Orrell. The countersign was "Johnson," in remembrance of Col. W. A. Johnson, lieutenant colonel of the Second Regiment, who has been very kind to the boys.

The wife of our gallant and beloved commander is with us, and of course that makes everything pleasant for the boys. We also have here a mascot, Master T. M. Hunter, Jr., of Fayetteville, and you may know he is all "O. K." C. E. B.

WHEREAS, The Supreme Ruler of the universe has in his infinite wisdom removed from among us, one of our worthy and esteemed comrades, Hiram Bobbitt Williams; and whereas, the long and intimate relation held with him in the faithful discharge of his duties on board the Monitor "Nantucket" during the late war with Spain, makes it befitting that we record our appreciation of him; therefore,

Resolved, That the ability which he exercised in the aid of the organization which he served with, will be held in grateful remembrance.

Resolved, That the sudden removal of such a life from our midst leaves a vacancy and a shadow that will be deeply realized by all his comrades and friends.

To the Citizens of Wilmington.

There has been complaint about having balls at Samaritan Hall. This is not the only hall where they have balls at night, and we do not stay all night. But notwithstanding we have drawn up plans to put a stop to parties fighting and cursing at this hall. We do not have balls to harm any one. We rent the hall to help pay for building it. We have drawn up plans and given them to the Mayor and Chief of Police, which they endorse. We guarantee that parties renting said hall shall keep good order, or else the janitor will close the hall at once.

SUNDAY MORNING, AUGUST 13, 1899.

BULLYING NATIONS

Among men the bullying man who goes about swaggering and ready to pounce upon the weaker man is looked upon as an object of contempt by manly men who would scorn to trample upon the weak. The bullying nation which swaggers and pounces upon weaker nations is not a whit more respectable than the bullying man. The bullying nation is nothing more nor less than an aggregation of bullying men. There is no honor in the subduing of the weak by the strong, especially when the strong have command of unlmited means and all the modern machinery of slaughter, and they can reap no glory out of it when the slaughter is done in the name of civilization, or the uplifting of humanity for that is a mere pretence, an arrant fraud behind which are selfishness and plunder.

How much glory has Great Britain won by her war upon the natives of Africa who refused to recognize her authority to rule them? Against naked men, armed with spears and bows and arrows she brought her trained soldiery, equipped with deadly guns and rapid fire machines, which mowed down the advancing blacks by the hundreds until they were piled one upon the other like great furrows in the field. That is modern warfare, which is simply improved methods of slaughter done with rapidity, and with the least exposure and danger to those who do it. That's one of the phases of "taking up the white man's burden," which means cutting down and getting rid of the black man, brown man, red man or yellow man who get in the white man's way while out in the quest of gain.

We have another illustration of this bullying in the Transvaal, where John Bull will soon be moving his troops to enforce his demands on those people unless the demands be complied with. The ultimatum, so to speak, has been sent and unless the Boers come to terms there will be war and then the British flag will be raised over the Dutch Republic, which was doubtless the motive that inspired the interest that British statesmen have taken in the Outlanders, most of whom (that is those of them who are white) are Britons, interested in gold mining or other pursuits. There isn't any strong nation to espouse the cause of the Boers; if there were the British authorities would indulge in more palaver and ceremony before the correspondence was closed.

It is so with all nations, for all nations are bullies when they have the weak to deal with, but cautious and prudent when it is the strong that confronts them. The bullies have divided Africa, the big bully (England) getting the larger portion, and now they are playing the same game in poor, old, wornout, worm-eaten China, which is big enough to swallow half of them if she was a nation of men instead of craven poltroons. But it may be noted how in their territory grabbing in China each one of the bullies is careful not to trench upon the regions of the others, for that would mean trouble for a couple if not more of them, and they are not hunting trouble with the strong and will avoid it as long as possible. If they were not as cowardly as they are there would have been war several years age over their plunder in China.

As a nation we have kept out of this business pretty well, but we are taking the other bullies and plunderers for exemlpars and are getting into it, not only in the plundering but in the methods of doing it. We are in the Philippines now, laying claim to about 144,000 square miles of territory, and to government over ten millions of people, on which we have no more just claim than we have on Siberia or Canada, and the mean thing about this is that we lured these people to co-operate with us in fighting Spain, then proved treacherous and bought, without consulting them and in opposition to their protests, the very territory that they had with our material and moral support driven the Spaniards from. The men who made that disreputable deal thought it would be an easy matter to have our title acknowledged by the people who had so implicitly confided in our national honor and in the promises made them by men who spoke ostensibly for the United States, as the Filipinos believed. It is now admitted by some of the land-grabbers that if it had been foreseen that our title would have been so stubbornly contested that deal might not have been made, which is virtually a confession that it was made under the belief that we could hold what we bought without a contest for it.

Does anybody suppose for a moment that if the Filipinos had friends among the strong nations to stand by them that deal would have been made, or that we would ever have claimed sovereignty over these islands? Not a bit of it. We were dealing with a defeated, addle-headed nation which was only too glad to get a $20,000,000 return for property from which she had been driven and could not hope to hold, and we expected to meet with no material opposition on taking posession of the purchase. We are there and simply playing the role of bully over a people who are not our match physically nor in the equipments of war. There is no honor, no glory in that kind of warfare, for it has no justification.

BENEVOLENT ASSIMILATION.

Rev. Sam Jones is differently viewed by different people. Like all men who have been before the public so conspicuously as he has been, he has friends and also his critics, who see very little in him to admire, but whatever the difference of opinion may be there is no question that he is a man of convictions and expresses them, when occasion requires, whether they be popular or not. He doesn't believe in the style of "benevolent assimilation" as it is now illustrated by the Washington administration, concerning which he thus speaks in an interview with a reporter of the Washington Post, who asked his views on that question:

"I think we have more crops planted than we care for. If we are to be no better guardians of the Filipinos than we have been of the Indians, the Chinamen and the negroes I fear for the results of our so-called philanthropy. If Frenchmen who came to our relief in the War of the Revolution had assumed the same attitude we would have been fighting that country yet. Our old style of philanthropy was to take the spelling book and the Bible. Latterly we have been using the gun and the Bible as our implements of conversion and civilization. We Protestants believe in no probation after death. Therefore, we argue, we put the heathen on the other side of probation. But it is kind of us to give him a Bible after we kill him. I am not a believer in annexation by extermination. It may be philanthropic, but it is not just. The barbarians may be wrong in misinterpreting our efforts to give them the benefits of civilization, but I believe they are justified in thinking that a nation which cannot take care of its own inferior races need not bid for any contracts until it has shown that it knows how to fulfill them. The advantages of commerce are more than offset by the difficulty of holding those poor savages until we can drive a bargain with them."

Evangelizing with the machine gun and the rifle may be an effective way to make "good" Filipinos—that is dead Filipinos—for there are some of the evangelizers who have caught on to Gen. Sheridan's idea of the "good" Indian, and think the way to make a Filipino "good" is to kill him. Prof. Worcester, who lived three years in the Philippines, say the worst Filipinos he met with were those who had come into contact with white men.

RAKING IN THE QUARTERS.

That colored citizen of Arkansas who is engaged in the work of organizing colored leagues to bring pressure to bear on Congress to secure pensions for ex-slaves is a smart chap, for according to reports he had raked in 12,381 quarters before the Postoffice officials caught on to his racket.

It is pretty hard to educate the colored brethren against these frauds, for there is always some of them on foot and no matter how often they are exposed, lots of the colored brethren stand ready to nibble at the bait the next fakir throws out to them. They have been beaten out of many thousands of dollars this way. But it is as hard to keep them on their guard, against frauds as it is to wean the bucolic citizen from the fascination of the "gold brick."

Now that the mails have been closed against this enterprising hustler of Arkansas, as he seems to be temporarily out of a job, it might be a good idea for him to go to Boston and pool his issues with Miss Jewett who is running the Baker show. With his cleverness he would doubtless be a valuable assistant to her.

A 7-year-old boy in Philadelphia drowned himself a couple days ago, because he was worn out with frequent scoldings and punishments for trivial offences. Some parents know as little how to manage their children as their children do to manage them.

THE TIDE OF IMMIGRATION.

Twenty-five years ago the bulk of immigration to this country consisted of Germans, Irish and English, but it has been changing since, especially within the past ten years, and now there is scarcely a country on the globe that does not furnish its contribution. Heretofore the immigration statistics simply showed the nationality of the immigrants, but for the past year the report shows not only that, but is subdivided, showing the nationality and the respective races, which gives some idea of the many elements of which this tide is composed. The following is the table:

Italians		78,730
Sclavs—
Bohemians	2,526
Croats	1,638
Poles	28,466
Russians	1,774
Ruthenians	1,392
Slovaks	15,838
Others	442	38,070
Hebrews		37,415
Irish		32,345
Germans		26,630
Scandinavians (Swedes, Norwegians and Danes)		23,249
English		10,712
Lithuanians		6,858
Finns		6,097
Magyar (Hungarians)		4,900
Syrians		3,708
Japanese		3,395
Spanish and Spanish Americans		2,797
Greeks		2,395
French		2,278
Portuguese		2,096
Scotch		1,942
Dutch		1,860
Chinese		1,628
Welsh		1,350

This isn't all, for we had in addition blacks from Africa, Armenians, Flemings, East Indians, Hawaiians, Pacific islanders, Roumanians, Australians, Turks and Coreans, but not over a thousand of either. The inhabitants of Switzerland must be pretty well contented at home, for that country sent us but one Switzer.

Heretofore there was no difficulty in the problem of assimilation, for the character of immigration that came from Germany, Ireland and England soon became Americanized and thoroughly identified themselves with the country of their adoption, but how this is going to work with the later conglomeration as it is pouring in now remains for the future to show. It may be incidentally remarked that there is a very considerable proportion of this influx that is not at all desirable, but the probabilities are that we will have more instead of less of it.

Miss Evaline Quick, of Milford, Pa., had an impromptu meeting with a big rattle snake the other day, which became aggressive, but she was too quick for him. She was swinging in a hammock, and looking down saw a five footer about ready ready to spring into the hammock, which he proceeded to do without further ceremony. He struck, but the girl's skirts protected her. She bounced from the hammock, got mad, ran and got a big stick, returned to the scene, and dislocated that snake's spinal column in several places with a celerity that utterly astonished and overwhelmed that misguided snake.

Some of the European crop statisticians figure out the wheat shortage this year in France at 20,000,000 bushels, in Russia between 85,000,000 and 120,000,000 bushels, in Roumania, Italy, Bulgaria and Spain (taken together) at 70,000,000, and India at 17,000,000 bushels. As the bulk of this deficiency must be supplied from this country, the prospects of our wheat growers getting fair prices for wheat they have to sell are pretty good.

Force of habit is strong in some men. In the last engagement that Gen. Funston participated, he commanded his brigade of three regiments, but when the thing got warm, he forgot that, jumped from his horse and took it afoot with the Kansas boys, and let somebody else look after the other regiments.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— The encounter of a Filipino army of 6,000 men, by Gen. McArthur's force, at San Fernando, island of Luzon, indicates a pretty formidable sized force under Aguinaldo. The reinforcements being sent and those to follow will be needed, if we are to see the end of large hostilities between next November and next May.—Chattanooga Times, Dem.

—— American manufacturers, as well as political economists, would be glad to know where Sir Alfred Hickman got his authority for the statement he made in the British House of Commons, that "experience had shown that, while the American engines were cheaper, the English engines lasted better, and, in the long run, were, therefore, really cheaper." It is believed that Sir Alfred's own countrymen, who are purchasing American engines in constantly increasing quantities, would be interested in the publication of his comparative figures, also.—Philadelphia Ledger, Ind.

—— Colonel Watterson, of the Louisville "Courier-Journal," replies to Mr. Bryan's recent speech against imperialism. The Colonel cannot see any difference between annexation of contiguous territory on this continent, with the full rights of American citizenship and Statehood included, and an adventure on the other side of the Pacific Ocean, with no pretence of equal rights, nor any such thing as Statehood dreamed of. Until the Colonel can be brought to see that there is a great difference between these two forms of expansion, he will doubtless continue to antagonize both Mr. Bryan and the Democratic party.—Brooklyn Citizen, Dem.

DON'T MAKE THE WRINKLES DEEPER.

(MRS. FRANK A. BREEK)

Is father's eyesight growing dim,
His form a little lower?
Is mother's hair a little gray,
Her steps a little slower?
Is life's hill growing hard to climb?
Make not their pathway steeper,
Smoothe out the furrows on their brows—
O do not make them deeper!

There's nothing makes a face seem younger,
As joy, youth's fairest token;
And nothing makes a face grow older
Like hearts that have been broken,
Take heed lest deeds of thine should make
Thy mother be a weeper;
Stamp peace upon a father's brow—
Don't make the wrinkles deeper

In doubtful pathways do not go,
Be tempted not to wander;
Grieve not the hearts that love you so,
But make their love grow fonder.
Much have thy parents borne for thee,
Be now their tender keeper;
And let them lean upon their tender love—
Don't make the wrinkles deeper.

Be lavish with thy loving deeds,
Be patient, true and tender;
And make the path that ageward leads,
Aglow with earthly splendor.
Some day, thy dear ones, stricken low,
Must yield to death, the reaper;
And you will then be glad to know
You made no wrinkles deeper.
—Lutheran Evanglist.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Mount Airy News: Cabbage growing played out in this section almost entirely a few years ago, but last year, and especially this year, large quantities have been raised in Surry county.

— Red Springs Citizen: We learn that there are already about twenty prisoners in the county jail awaiting trial at the October term of Criminal Court. It is probable that an extra sitting will be required unless there is a let up to crime.

— Durham Sun: At a recent meeting of the directors of the Inter-State Telephone Company all the old officers were re-elected for another year. The directors also decided to establish a factory here for the purpose of manufacturing telephones, at an early date.

— Monroe Enquirer: Samuel McDonald, colored, accidentally shot and killed himself last Saturday. While crossing a fence the hammer of the shot gun he was carrying struck a rail, the gun fired and the load entered McDonald's stomach, killing him instantly.

— Washington Progress: The heaviest rain that has been seen here in many a day fell on Saturday evening last. Parts of the town were under water. In the Aurora section crops have been badly damaged by recent rains. Prior to these recent rains they had the finest crops that had ever been known in that section.

— Wadesboro Messenger-Intelligencer: Mr. E. F. Fenton, the well known collector of curios, has in his possession a repeating shot gun, made after the pattern of the Colt's repeater. This gun was made in 1853 by Colts Bros., Bridgeport, Conn. It has five chambers and is fired by caps placed on the tubes in the cylinder. Not withstanding its age, it is in perfect working order.

— Charlotte News: The News learns upon the most reliable information that Charlotte within a few months will have one of the finest and best systems of automobiles to be found in the entire country. People have often remarked that the roads of Charlotte and of Mecklenburg county appeared to be only waiting for completion by having the automobile to run over their smooth surfaces, and now this important matter is to all intents and purposes as good as settled.

— Monroe Journal: The Oil & Fertilizer Company is sinking a well on the site of the mill. They have gone 32 feet and struck a tremendous amount of water, the yield now being 12,000 gallons per day. An engine and pump is required to keep clear enough for the workers to go down.

—— A dog belonging to Mr. George Ritch, of Indian Trail, was thought to be mad last Friday. Before it could be stopped it had bitten six persons, most of them children of Messrs. Doss Hemby, D. D. Stinson, Hamp Starnes, and Frank Smith. The children were carried to a mad stone in Charltote. The dog was killed, beside about twelve others which it had bitten.

—— A gentlemen informs us that on one occasion before the war there were encamped at Pleasant Grove 7,500 persons, by actual count. This did not include those coming in and out, but only the persons actually living in the tents, of which latter there were then three rows all around the ground. Verily, they had camp-meeting in those days. The people came from above Charlotte and below Lancaster, and as far down as Camden.

LACE TRIMMED MUSLIN GOWN FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

THE accompanying cut represents a white lawn gown with knife-pleated waist and triple knife-pleated skirt. The bands are of sheer black lace insertion, and the ruffles are finished with black lace edging to match. Black insertion and lace finish the plain lawn sleeves, and the standing collar is of white mousseline de soie. A wide fancy collar of russet guipure is held together by a tie of old-rose lawn. The belt is white and the costume is completed by a white parasol with pink moire bands, and a Leghorn hat trimmed with different shades of red and pink carnations and tied with black velvet strings.

TWINKLINGS.

— Gentleman—"Cabby, I'll give you a sovereign if you catch the 4.30 train." Cabby (excitedly)—"Jump in, guv-nor, an' I'll do it or break your neck in the attempt!"—Tid-Bits.

— Brooks—"How do you like our new neighbors by this time?" Mrs. Brooks—"First rate. They haven't refused me a single thing yet that I have wanted to borrow."

— Nodd—"I wonder if I shall ever be rich enough to own a steam yacht?" Todd—"Um, that isn't my ambition." "What is it?" "I want to be rich enough, after I own one, to run it for a few weeks each season."—Chicago Record.

— International Rivalry: Warwick—"They say the relations between England and Germany are considerably strained." Wickwire—"Yes; they got into a dispute over the question as to which was the friendliest to the United States.

— Blunt—"Who reads your poetry, anyhow?" Billets—"Why, my dear sir, all the prominent magazine editors of the country, and many of the lesser lights on the daily and weekly papers."—Philadelphia North American.

— It was Edith's first visit to the country, and while there she saw one of her grandfather's horses shod. "My!" she exclaimed on reaching the house, "grandpa had a breastpin put on every one of his horse's feet."—Judge.

— Love's Devotion: "It always makes me very sad when I hear the name 'Amos.'" "Why, Aunt Emeline?" "I had a lover named 'Amos' forty years ago." "What was his other name auntie?" "I can't remember."

— "How would you like to have a chunk of gold weighing eight pounds?" said the boy who was reading fairy stories. "I dunno," answered Farmer Corntossel "It 'ud depend on where it comes from, New York City or the Klondike."—Washington Star.

— Mr. Bambo, moving vaguely and uncertainly toward his home at a late hour, was held up by a footpad, who went through his pockets and found a quarter of a dollar. "Shay," hiccoughed Mr. Bambo, surprised himself at the extent of his wealth, "how ju you know I had all that?"

When life's autumn comes, women, worn out by the burdens and obligations of motherhood, yet shrink from that second "change of life" which will banish these burdens forever. They fear a change in form, in feature, in personal attractiveness, and that the lees of life will alone remain at the bottom of the cup of existence. Such fears are largely warranted by the effects which this change produces in many women. But no woman need let these fears fret her, who from the time of the first change of life, from girlhood to womanhood, has taken care to constantly keep her system in vigorous health.

Those who have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription do not suffer from the change of life either in face, form or feelings as do other women. This fact is due to the intimate connection of the general health with the health of the organs peculiarly feminine. By preserving the health of these organs, and relieving the system from the debilitating drains, ulcers and inflammations which sap its health, "Favorite Prescription" paves the way for this natural change to come in Nature's way, without the loss of capacity to please others or the personal inability to enjoy life.

Mrs. M. Barnes, of Balls Ferry, Shasta Co., Cal., writes: "My physician said I was suffering from the effects of 'change of life.' I had heart disease and womb trouble and rheumatism. My head was so dizzy I could hardly stand up. When I began Dr. Pierce's medicines I improved right along. I took seven or eight bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription,' a teaspoonful three times a day, and the 'Pleasant Pellets' at night. I feel as well as I ever did."

There is no alcohol, whisky or other intoxicant in "Favorite Prescription," neither does it contain opium or other narcotics.

You may be willing that somebody else shall say that their baby is "just as good" as yours, but you don't want that baby substituted for yours. Let dealers say what they like about other medicines being "just as good" but don't let them substitute anything for "Favorite Prescription."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system of impurities.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, August 12.—To-day's cotton market opened firm in tone with prices unchanged to eight points higher and ruled feverish and active all through the session. The dominating influences were strongly bullish and inspired the long contingent to press forward in their efforts to put prices on the level to which many months they have contended cotton was entitled. Bear ranks were in a demoralized condition during the opening preliminaries, and little attempt to reorganize these forces was made later. Soon after the call heavy profit taking sales forced prices back to last night's figures. The market exhibited remarkable recuperative energy, however, and soon rallied on fresh buying from all quarters. Liverpool more than responded to our improvement of late yesterday, and crop statements from the western division of the belt, notably Texas, were distinctly bullish. The market for futures closed steady with prices net three to five points lower, heavy realizing having set in near the close.

QUEER ANIMAL AGREEMENTS.

Unlike Creatures That Get Along Very Well In Common Quarters.

An intimate connection subsisting between different animals is known as commensalism, commensals being creatures which may be said to sit at the same table, but which do not prey upon one another. Of late years naturalists have become acquainted with numerous examples of this form of animal partnership. In one of the Chicken islands, off the New Zealand coast, a curious lizard known as the tuatara and certain species of the petrels were found inhabiting the same burrows, apparently on the best of terms. In rare cases the burrow, which consists of a passage two or three feet long, ending in a chamber a foot and a half long, one foot broad and six inches high, is the work of the bird. As a rule, however, the lizard is the excavator. Each builds its nest on opposite sides of the chamber, the lizard almost invariably choosing the left and the petrel the right side. The lizard feeds partly on worms and beetles and partly on the remnants of fishes brought to their common table by the petrel, both animals being thus benefited by the partnership. This is probably more than can be said of the prairie dog, whose underground home is frequently shared by the rattlesnake and the burrowing owl. These were at one time supposed to form a "happy family," but considerable doubt has been cast on the point by the discovery of young prairie dogs in the stomach of the rattlesnake, which seems to indicate that commensalism in this particular case has been a one sided affair so far as the benefits were concerned.

It is among marine animals, however, that the most striking examples of commensalism have been observed. A feeble fish called the remora owes its success in life to the powerful alliances it forms. One of its fins has been transformed into a sucker placed right on top of its head, by means of which it attaches itself firmly to any passing shark, whale or even ship, no doubt mistaking the latter for some huge sea monster. By these it is transported without any exertion on its own part over great distances, meanwhile picking up such food as may come in its way.

Several small fishes have been found, also, to habitually lodge in the mouth cavity of a Brazilian catfish, sharing such food as the latter succeeds in capturing. The enemies of the smaller fishes are so numerous that it is only by retreating to places inaccessible to their foes that they have a chance of survival. A favorite shelter for many small fishes is the round disk of the larger sea jellies, the stinging properties of which probably cause them to be avoided by the other denizens of the deep. As many as 20 fishes have been counted swimming within the fringed margin of one of these pulsating umbrellas. The sea cucumbers are another lowly group of marine forms which afford shelter to fishes.

Other instances might be given, such as that of the little pea crab, found in mussels and other bivalve shells, which in return for the protection given them by the molluskan shell gives its host a share of the food it captures.—Washington Star.

Who Can Answer?

"When the autocar comes into general use," asked the cheerful idiot, "I want to know what is to become of the teaming millions?"—Indianapolis Journal.

Gomez Soliloquizes.

If I had served myself
As I have served these tatterdemalions
I would not now be turned adrift
As this sour scarecrow gang hath turned me.
When they needed the sword of Gomez,
They came to me with pleadings.
Now that they need me not,
Like some old horse that hath well served his time,
They turn me loose to forage and to die.
Such is the substance of human gratitude—
Today at the head of my dauntless band;
Tomorrow a swordless wanderer.
But, never mind! There is one reckoning yet.
That little scheme that Porter and I
With cunning deftness swift arranged
Still holds. I'll have the handling of the plunks—
Three million Yankee plunks!
And when they say, these ragged makers of the law,
Where is our share, I'll hold 'em up to scorn.
I'll say, "Go to!" They'll get the frosted hand,
But never a solitary coin!
This, then, is Gomez's vengeance!

WOMAN AND FASHION.

A Charming Spring Toilet—Substitute For the Safety Pin—Attractive Spring Hat.

The charming spring toilet shown in the illustration is made of pale reseda cloth. The skirt is made in one circular piece, seamed in the middle of the back and almost concealed beneath the long polonaise, which is cut without seams at the back and fastens at the left side, on the hip, with a large crystal button. The bodice portion fits perfectly and is fancifully cut out at the neck, disclosing a semivest of cream cloth ornamented with narrow straps of black velvet ribbon and two crystal buttons. Below the bust the cloth is carried over to the left side and fastened with a button, the edge of the polonaise being bordered throughout with a band of cream cloth garnished with small alternating straps of black and silver braid. The chemisette and collar band are of plaited white mousseline de soie, the collar tabs of the same being bound with black velvet. The small tailor sleeves are cut in deep tabs at the wrists, which extend well over the hand.—Philadelphia Ledger.

In Place of the Safety Pin.

How to keep her blouse down at the back is a perpetual puzzle to many a woman. The majority settle the matter by drawing down the blouse tightly and then securing it to the band of the skirt by sticking a large safety pin through both. The effect of this is all right, but in a short time the back of the blouse will be found to be hopelessly torn.

Instead of using a safety pin it is a much better plan to stitch a little band at the waist line of the blouse, with a couple of buttonholes in it at the back, to be fastened to a couple of buttons sewed on the inside of the skirt band. As this arrangement must be made for each blouse and skirt, it takes a little time, but it is well worth doing, for it prevents any fear of skirt and blouse parting company and of one's not looking as neat and trim about the waist as one ought to look.

An Attractive Spring Hat.

A dainty and attractive bit of headgear for a young girl or a young woman is shown in the illustration. The form is of rose straw, the drapery of assorted tulle and yellow lace. The trimming consists of Louis Quinze knots of black velvet, a large black aigret and a bunch of white roses, worn at one side.

This hat with very wide brim is extremely becoming. In bright colors it makes a dressy headgear for a very young married woman or girl. It is equally pretty in black, or black and white, or in white tulle covered with fine black lace. The best bright colors are pink coral, pale blue or reed green.

The wide brimmed straw is one of the most popular of the new shapes. Whether the brim be straight or bent, the front of the hat is worn well down over the forehead. The trimming in the hat just described is a trifle higher than that generally prescribed by fashion.

The Coming Shirt Waist.

Waists are shirtlike in their plainness, though some are made fanciful with the addition of dressy collars and revers. Linen collars are worn as well as those of plain ribbon, which merely cross in the back and lap over in the front, where they are held with small lace pins. Leather belts are seen more with the shirt waist than are the fancy ones of last year.—April Woman's Home Companion.

A Hard Headed Prisoner.

In the trial of a negro in a Decatur county court for horse stealing the judge asked the prisoner:

"Have you any defense?"

"Any er do fense, suh? No, suh. I didn't take de fence. De fence wuzn't what I wuz atter."

"I mean," explained the judge, "have you any one to represent you?"

"No, suh. I did vote fer Marse William fer representative, but he made such a po' showin in de legislatur' dat dey tu'ned him down w'en he axed ter go back."

"You seem to be a hard headed fellow," remarked the judge.

"Yes, suh, Mister Judge. You right erbout dat. Ef I hadn't er been so ha'd headed, I wouldn't a stole dat hoss."—Atlanta Constitution.

Youthful Pessimist.

A New England schoolteacher preserves among her treasures the composition of a former pupil, a boy of 12. It has its pathetic side, as the meagerness of the boy's life may be conjectured from his words.

The subject given was: "Anticipation. Do you enjoy it as much as realization?"

Dictionaries were diligently consulted, and the general vote placed anticipation on a high plane of delight. Not so wrote the solemn faced boy of 12:

Anticipation is when you think about things beforehand. If it's having your teeth out, that isn't much fun, and if it's Sunday school picnics you can't help worrying about the weather.

Realization is when the things you've thought about beforehand happen. Having your teeth out is a little worse than thinking about it. Sunday school picnics would be nice if it didn't rain, but when it rains they put them off, and then the day they have them generally you can't go.

A RETURNED CALL.

It Probably Taught the Well Meaning Woman a Lesson.

The following is an actual incident of New York life:

She hoped that she was doing lots of good. She would visit the poor in their own homes and, as she believed, cheer them up. One time she called on a poor woman in Hester street, and, as was her wont, she immediately began to ask a stereotyped set of questions which she hurled at the woman.

"How old are you? How many children have you? Can you read? Does your husband drink?" etc.

The woman did her best to stem this interrogative avalanche and mumbled some answers. After about half an hour's talk the philanthropic woman went away and was driven to her home in Fifth avenue, leaving her card with her address at the poor woman's home. A clergyman who did charitable work in that section called on the Hester street woman a few days after the rich woman's visit. After some talk with her she said to him:

"I t'inks dat I makes one call."

"Well, my good woman, on whom do you intend to call?"

She named the would be benefactress.

"But," said the clergyman, "do you know how to behave when you call upon such a person?"

"Oh, yes!" she said. "I knows how they behaves, und I behaves myself just like 'em."

She did call and was ushered into the drawing room. A few moments later the wealthy woman entered the apartment. As soon as she crossed the threshold her visitor began:

"How old are you? How many children have you? Can you read? Does your husband drink? How often does he beat you?"

Then she turned sharply about, and, holding up her ragged skirt, she strode out of the house and down the avenue.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

ERUPTIONS ON CHILDREN,

All Cured by Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.) for Bad Blood.

SAMPLE BOTTLE FREE.

Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.) is not a cure-all, but is made especially to cure all effects of Bad, Poisoned, Diseased Blood, especially the deep seated, persistent cases that refuse to heal under doctors' directions or the use of patent medicines, salves, sarsaparillas, etc. If these have disappointed you, don't give up hope, for Botanic Blood Balm has never failed to cure after all else fails. B. B. B. is different from any other blood remedy (there is no substitute for B. B. B.), because B. B. B. always promptly reaches the real trouble and fairly roots out and drives from the system the poison and humor that cause all above troubles, then the flesh heals and all the symptoms disappear and cannot return, because then the first cause of all the trouble is entirely removed. Give B. B. B. a trial and you will be delighted with the effects, even of one bottle. That itching scab of eczema or salt rheum will disappear, the persistent pimple (the beginning, very often, of deadly cancer), will heal, blotches, erupt ons and unsightly sores on the face will give place to a perfectly smooth skin, that running ulcer on the leg will, under the curative powers of B. B. B., first stop running, then heal as well as ever. Those scrofulous, scaling sores, swollen glands, contagious blood poison or even deadly cancer, will get well, and you will thank the Blood Balm Co. for making such a wonderful medicine. Children and babies with eruptions, itching scales and sores are quickly healed and skin made smooth and perfect by the use of Botanic Blood Balm. SUNDAY MORNING, AUGUST 13, 1899.

PEMBROKE JONES A HERO.

He Saved Six Lives at Newport, Rhode Island, in a Brave Adventure From the Deck of His Yacht.

[New York Journal.]

NEWPORT, R. I., August 10.—This having been a rainy day at Newport the great crowd of society and wealth have had plenty of time to discuss the heroism of Pembroke Jones, who, at the risk of his own life, rescued two women and two men from a blazing naphtha launch in the bay last night.

It all came about in this wise: W. Buckholder Sunderland and Otto D. Krieschbaum, accompanied by Miss Florence Newcomb and Miss Josephine Scott, came down from Taunton, Mass., yesterday to see the sights. Along in the evening they engaged the naphtha launch of Capt. Michael Connelly to run them around the yachts in the harbor.

Captain Connolly is a navigator of experience, and he had a crew of one man. The four from Taunton boarded his craft and off they started. Aboard the steam yacht Narada was a dinner party, attended by some of the most notable of the summer colony.

Projecting from the port side of the Narada was a swinging boom at the end of which a small boat was moored. Captain Connolly, in his desire to show his fares from Taunton the real thing, ran up alongside the yacht, and the swinging boom scraped off the smokestack of his naphtha launch. From this time the proceedings were interesting.

The loss of the stack allowed the flame to communicate with the naptha in the tank, and there was a fireworks display that would do credit to Manhattan Beach.

Captain Connolly and his crew, being familiar with explosive abilities of naphtha, discreetly jumped overboard, leaving the four frightened Taunton tourists to guess what was best to do.

The accident had been seen from the deck of the yacht, and Pembroke Jones was the first to take advantage of the opportunity. It would be pressing it a bit to say that he harled himself into a small boat, but he slid in, and, calling one of the crew to his assistance, he started for the blazing launch. Reaching it, Mr. Jones sprang aboard and turned a few cocks that shut off the flow of naphtha from the tank and averted an explosion. Then he assisted the Taunton people to his small boat and took them aboard the yacht. On the way he picked up Captain Connolly and his crew, who had been swimming around.

The trifling burns of the tourists from Taunton were attended to on the yacht and they were sent ashore in one of the Narada's boats. The guests aboard the yacht were so excited that they failed to finish their dinner, and Mr. Jones was overwhelmed with congratulations until his face looked like the blaze he had just extinguished on the launch.

RELIEF FOR PORTO RICO.

Appeal in Behalf of the Storm Sufferers Meeting With Hearty Response. Ship to Sail Monday,

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, August 12.—Responses to the appeal of Secretary Root for aid for the suffering and destitute in Porto Rico are coming in from the Mayors of the different cities in the most gratifying manner. Promises of money, food and clothing are made, and it is said that the work of relief will be commenced immediately and pushed with all vigor.

The War Department is already assured of having a full shipload for the McPherson, which sails next Monday. In addition to the peas and rice ordered by the subsistence department, the ship will be filled with donations that have been generously offered.

The Secretary has designated the Bank of North America, New York, as the depository for funds, and Col. B. F. Jones, Chief Quartermaster, to receive supplies and provisions. His office is in the army building, Whitehall street, New York.

THE ROUND BALE TRUST.

[Fairfield, S. C., News and Herald.]

No one questions that the present system of packing cotton for the markets needs improvement. A casual observer will notice the great loss by ware and tare in handling the square bale as it is generally packed and brought to market. The round bale may be an improvement, though many competent authorities are condemning it. But the machinery for turning out the round bale is in the hands of a big trust, the American Cotton Company.

Considerable literature pro and con has been sent broadcast throughout the country. With the light before us, we are not kindly disposed towards the round bale trust. It appears to be a scheme practically to control the business. The American Cotton Company do not, and will not, sell the machinery outright, but the company leases the outfit—something on the plan of the Bell Telephone Company, and similar concerns. We have before us a copy of the contract which ginners of the round bale are required to sign. The contract in the main is in favor of the trust. The farmer or the ginner must pay, "as rentals or royalties, for the use of the said machines, at the rate of twenty cents per 100 pounds of bales turned out by said machines," rendering a report to the company on the 5th day of each month. The Company practically takes charge of the vast business of ginning and packing cotton. The company "shall be decreed," reads the contract, "to have control of the manufacture * * * shall at all times have full and free access to the property." If in any one year the royalties fall below $1,000, the trust may refuse to renew the contract for another year, unless the ginner will pay "for such preceding year a sum which, added to the royalties already paid for such year, shall aggregate equal to $1,000 minimum." This feature alone should kill the trust. For instance, a ginner pays one year, say $2,000, royalty; the next year is a poor crop, and he pays only $500. The trust can then require him to surrender the machinery and go out of business, unless the ginner will pay $500 to make up the $1,000. His having paid the $2,000 the first year is of no advantage to him. The royalty must at least be $1,000 in a bad crop year, no matter how much more it may have been in a good year. The whole system points to placing the cotton crop in the hands of this trust. Samples of every bale turned out must be sent to the trust.

Other points in the contract are equally objectionable, if not more so. The farmer has his hand tied now, and we cannot advise him to allow this trust to put a rope around his neck.

MERCIER HISSED AND DENOUNCED.

Sensational Scene at Yesterday's Session of the Dreyfus Court Martial.

SCENE OF WILD EXCITEMENT.

Testimony of Casimir-Perier, Former President of France—Gen. Mercier's Severe Denunciation — An Outburst From Dreyfus.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

RENNES, Aug. 12.—A stirring scene closed to day's session of the Dreyfus trial. General Mercier had spoken nearly four hours in ruthless denunciation of Dreyfus, who listened unmoved until Mercier concluded by saying that if he had not been convinced of the guilt of Dreyfus, and if the latter's conviction had not been fortified since 1894, he would admit he had been mistaken. Dreyfus jumped to his feet as though the words had galvanized him into life and shouted in a voice which resounded through the hall like a trumpet note: "You ought to say so now."

The audience burst into a wild cheer, whereupon the ushers called for silence. But when Mercier replied that he would admit Dreyfus was innocent if there was any doubt, the prisoner shouted again: "Why don't you, then."

At this there was another outburst of applause.

Mercier Hissed and Cursed.

M. Casimer-Perier then rose and dramatically demanded to be confronted with General Mercier in order to deny some of his statements.

Colonel Jouaust ordered the court to be adjourned until Monday, at 6:30 A. M., for the confrontation, and as Mercier turned to leave the court, the audience rose enmasse and hissed and cursed him, those at the back of the court standing on chairs and benches, in order to hound him down. The gendarmes placed themselves between the General and the audience, who showed a disposition to maltreat the former minister of war.

General Mercier hurried out of the court room through a side door, amid fierce denunciations from the audience. On emerging into the street, the crowd outside cheered him and cried: "Vive L'Armee."

"Ah!" cried a spectator of the scene in court, "If they had heard the inhuman speech they would not cheer him now."

Proceedings Opened Tamely.

The proceedings this morning opened tamely and the hopes of a sensational situation began to flag; but this was only the calm before the storm, and when the storm broke it carried every one in court with it into a whirlpool of the wildest excitement.

Dreyfus, on entering the court today, saluted the president with the same soldierly mien as on Monday, and the president, Colonel Jouaust, returned the salute and said: "Sit down Dreyfus."

The prisoner was first asked in regard to a copy of the text of the bordereau which was found in his pocket when he was searched in prison. Dreyfus stated that he had kept the document as a souvenir.

M. De La Roche-Vernet, a secretary attached to the French embassy at Berlin, and M. Paleologue, of the French foreign office, were examined as to the translation of a Panizardi dispatch, and while their evidence was conflicting at certain points, the net result of the two witnesses' replies to MM. Labori and Demange was that never, in any translation, was there any question of relations on the part of Dreyfus with Germany.

Casimir-Perier Testifies.

Casimir-Perier, former president of France, was then called to the witness stand. He was dressed in a black frock coat, with the rosette of the Legion of Honor at his button-hole, and light check trousers, and carried a silk hat in his hand.

In response to the usual questions, he said: "I am fifty-two years old; no profession. I was formerly president of the Republic."

Col. Jouaust then said: "Did you know the accused prior to the acts of which he is charged?"

M. Casimir-Perier: "No; Monsieur L'President."

Jouaust: "You were president of the Republic at the time of the arrest of Captain Dreyfus. In this position you were able to have many particulars upon the circumstances and causes of his arrest. I beg you kindly to communicate them to the court."

Casimier-Perier in a loud voice, said: "Monsieur Le President: You asked me to speak the truth and all the truth. I have sworn to do it. I will speak without reticence, without reserve, in its entirety. Whatever I may have said in the past, whatever the people may believe and say, which unfortunately is not always the same thing, that I alone am aware of incidents and facts which might throw light, and that I have not hitherto said all; justice ought to know that it is false. I will not leave this place without saying all."

The former president, in a loud and distinct voice, repeated the evidence he had given before the Court of Cassation. The witness read the text of the dispatch received by Count von Munster Lebenburg, the German ambassador at Paris, from Prince Hohenlohe, the German imperial chancellor, which the former communicated to M. Casimir-Perier during a visit to the Elysee palace. It ran:

"His majesty, the Emperor, having every confidence in the loyalty of the President of the republic and the government of the republic, begs your Excellency to tell M. Casimir-Perier that it is proved the German embassy was never implicated in the Dreyfus affair. His majesty hopes the government of the republic will not hesitate to so declare. So, without a formal declaration, the legend which here continues to spread regarding the German embassy would compromise the position of the representative of Germany.

(Signed) HOHENLOHE."

M. Casimir-Perier then recounted how he had expressed to the then Premier and Minister of War his astonishment and indignation at the interview which Captain Lebrun-Renaud gave the Figaro on the subject of Dreyfus.

The witness told of Colonel Picquart's visit to the Elysee at the time of the trial in 1894, to inform him that M. Bertillon's demonstrations had little effect on the judges. He added: "I received M. Bertillon on December 10 and 15 at the instance of the Minister of War, who thought his demonstration very curious, interesting and conclusive, but I must confess, said M. Casimir-Perier amid a general titter in court, "that I judged them differently." He added: "All that was done and said among the ministers was done without my knowledge."

The witness then related the facts in connection with the futile efforts of M. Waldeck-Rousseau to prevent the first court martial sitting behind closed doors, and said he, the witness, had never received any member of the Dreyfus family.

M. Casimir-Perier concluded this part of his statement by raising his voice and speaking very excitedly, saying: "For the honor of the chief magistracy, which I occupied, for the honor of the republic, I will not allow it to be said that I had exchanged a word with a captain in the French army accused of treason."

This statement caused applause in court, which Colonel Jouaust speedily suppressed, threatening to clear the hall if there was any repetition of it.

Various questions were then asked M. Casimir-Perier by the assistant judge and M. Demange on the subject of Captain Lebrun-Renaud's statement that Dreyfus had confessed to him, and the witness said, emphatically, that he never had from Captain Lebrun-Renaud any communication such as a confession during the captain's visit to him.

Gen. Mercier Testifies.

When his testimony was ended M. Casimir-Perier was conducted back to his seat by a non-commissioned officer, and all eyes were directed towards a door to the right. There was a moment of painful suspense and then General Mercier entered the court room, and was conducted to the witness stand by a soldier.

General Mercier entered into an explanation tending to prove Schwarzkoppen was at the head of the German espionage system in France, and afterward had the famous letter containing the words "Cette Canaille de D—" read.

In the meanwhile Dreyfus watched Mercier through his eye-glasses, but was apparently quite unmoved. The witness who displayed the deepest interest was M. Casimir Perier. Seated in front of a row of private seats, he leaned forward, with his hands on his knees, except when very excited, when he lifted his hands in an expressive gesture of disgust or impatience.

The Alleged Dreyfus Letter.

Mercier, who had his back turned to the former president, saw nothing of this, but after he had completed his testimony and had reiterated all the charges contained in M. D'Ormescheville's bill of indictment, Mercier presented a document to be read by the clerk, which proved to be the alleged Dreyfus letter concerning the alleged engagement entered into with M. Casimir-Perier, which the latter had so hotly denounced. The last word had hardly left the clerk's lips when M. Casimir-Perier jumped up and shouted: "That's the letter I read in the newspapers."

General Mercier, startled, turned around and muttered excuses, saying he did not believe a president of the republic would enter into such an engagement.

To this M. Casimer-Perier retorted in a tone of the bitterest sarcasm: "Thank you, General, for this testimonial."

At the end of his evidence, General Mercier said he believed that the only motive of Dreyfus' treason was that Dreyfus had no feeling of patriotism.

This cruel utterance brought forth hisses from the audience, whose blood had been sent up to the fever heat by the witness' savage attacks on Dreyfus.

Dreyfus Electrified.

Then Dreyfus electrified his hearers. He jumped to his feet, as though the words had galvanized him into new life, and shouted with a voice which resounded through the hall like a trumpet note: "That is what you ought to say."

The audience burst into a wild cheer, whereupon the ushers called for silence.

General Mercier then stammered: "I would come and say: 'Capt. Dreyfus, I was mistaken in good faith, and I will do all in human power to repair the frightful error.'"

The prisoner then shouted: "Why don't you, then. That is your duty."

At this there was another outburst of applause.

General Mercier, after a pause, when the excitement had partially calmed, said: "Well, no. My convictions since 1894 have not suffered the slightest weakening. It is fortified by the deepest study of the dossier and also by the inanity of the means resorted to for the purpose of proving the innocence of the condemned man of 1894, in spite of the evidence accumulated and in spite of the millions of money expended.

Colonel Jouaust then said: "Have you finished?"

General Mercier replied: "Yes."

Colonel Jouaust then announced that the sessions of the court martial would be resumed Monday morning.

ADVICES FROM MANILA.

Town of Santa Rita Occupied by General MacArthur's Forces—Filipinos Still Holding Angeles.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

MANILA, August 12.—Advices from Calulut, under date of August 11th, report that General MacArthur took the Ninth regiment, a battalion of the Twenty-second and detachment of the First artillery from Calulut to Santa Rita, near Bacolor, on Friday morning. The entrance of the troops into the town was not opposed, the insurgents fleeing as the Americans approached. The troops had a hard march of ten miles, in some places being obliged to wade waist-deep in water, and many were exhausted. The troops will spend the night at Santa Rita and proceed Saturday.

Lieutenant Hazard, of Gen. Wheaton's staff, with five scouts of the Iowa regiment, marched up the railroad into Angeles. A small force of rebels attacked the scouts outside the town, and Lieutenant Hazard sent for reinforcements. General Wheaton's orders were, however, that the Americans should not occupy Angeles, and a force of 600 or 700 rebels appearing Lieutenant Hazard retired.

PLOT AGAINST FRENCH REPUBLIC.

Many Arrests Made of Political Leaders and Others in Paris.

AN ORLEANIST CONSPIRACY.

Backed Up by Anti-Semite and Patriotic Leagues and the Young Royalists. President of the Anti-Semite League Defied Arrest.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

PARIS, August 12.—M. Droulde, founder of the League of Patriots and a member of the Chamber of Deputies, for the Angouleme division of Charente, was arrested at 4 o'clock this morning at his estate at Crossey, near Paris. A number of members of the Anti-Semite League and Patriotic League were also arrested this morning.

M. Droulde was taken into custody by four gendarmes and was driven to Paris. On his arrival here he was incarcerated in the conciergerie prison.

The arrest of M. Mariel Habert is expected.

The police have closed the offices of the Patriotic League, which are now guarded by gendarmes.

Refused to Surrender.

When an attempt was made to arrest M. Guerin, president of the Anti-Semite League, he refused to surrender and barricaded himself in his house. He says he is prepared to hold out for three weeks, having a good stock of food and firearms. The doors and windows of his residence are barricaded and M. Guerin announces he will blow up his house before he surrenders.

On the application of M. Ferbri, fresh searches of various houses were made this morning, including the headquarters of the Anti-Semites, where only unimportant papers were seized.

Altogether sixteen members of the Anti Semite and Patriotic Leagues and the Young Royalists have been arrested. M. Guerin, as this dispatch is sent, armed with revolvers and knives, still holds possession of his apartments, the headquarters of the Anti-Semite League, to which entrance is secured only after running the gauntlet of a strong guard of Anti-Semites.

Discovery of the Plot.

It is reported that M. Andre Buffett, president of the Young Royalist League, has been arrested.

It is reported that the officials unearthed telegrams sent to the Duke of Orleans from Brussels at the time of President Faure's funeral, the first saying: "All our men are ready." The second telegram was dispatched the following day, saying: "It is useless to come."

An attempt at an insurrection against the government had in the meanwhile failed.

Later, during the trial of M. DeRoulde, traces were discovered of a fresh plot and of consultations at which the question was discussed whether the attempt should be made to change the form of government before or after the Rennes court martial.

The government thereupon judging that the time for action had arrived, ordered a number of arrests to be made, all of which apparently have not been effected.

The ministry of the interior declines to give the names of prominent persons already captured or who are to be taken into custody.

When arrested M. DeRoulde shouted: "It is rascality on the part of the government, which is trying to implicate me in the same affair as the Orleanists, whose adversary I am."

To Seize the Government by Force.

A semi-official note issued this morning reads as follows:

"A certain number of arrstes were made this morning as the result of a magisterial inquiry and by virtue of Article 89 of the Penal Code, regarding a conspiracy organized for the purpose of accomplishing a change in the form of government. Persons implicated belong to the group of Royalist Youths and the Patriotic and Anti-Semitic Leagues. At the trial of the Meuilly barracks affair facts relating to that incident alone were used as the basis of the prosecution; but searches were then made and documents were seized which led to the discovery of an organization dating back to July, 1898, and of a plot to seize the government by force. The documents leave no room for doubt, either in regard to existence of the plot or as to the chief actors therein. After very close watch organized proof was obtained that the same groups were preparing for a fresh attempt at an early date, the proof being such as to enable the disturbance to be averted by immediate measures. The investigation of the affair is entrusted to M. Fabre, examining magistrate."

MORE TROOPS NEEDED.

A Call for Volunteers Under Consideration at the War Department.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Aug 12.—Secretary Root has under consideration the question of calling for volunteers. While he has not decided definitely to do so, preparations are being made for the call should it be decided to issue it when the thirteen regiments now being called are completed.

It is said that additional troops may be needed to relieve those who have served some time in the tropical countries. It is also suggested that it may be deemed advisable to increase the army of General Otis.

Secretary Root has under consideration suggestions from General Brooke for bringing home some of the troops now in Cuba. It has been practically determined to have five battalions sent to the United States.

WEST INDIAN HURRICANE.

Approaching the Coast of Florida—Storms at Jupiter and Pensacola—Wind Forty Miles An Hour.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

JUPITER, FLA., August 12.—The day has passed with no fiercer touch of the West Indian hurricane than a steady gale which has not exceeded forty miles per hour. The wind freshened at eight this morning and under murky skies increased in velocity until a rate of about forty miles was recorded. At 8 o'clock to-night the speed of the wind is thirty-eight miles. The barometer registered 29.57.

The barometer has been falling slowly ever since yesterday, indicating the approach of a storm. It is believed here, owing to the direction of the wind which has been prevailing all day, that the storm is south by southeast of this place. Its distance cannot be ascertained, but it is believed to be about one hundred miles away in the vicinity of Nassau, N. P. It is a well known fact that storms of this character often remain stationary for some time and then start out with seemingly renewed force. The route the West Indian hurricane will take is problematical.

A Blow at Pensacola.

PENSACOLA, August 12.—The outer edge of the West Indian hurricane swept over Pensacola this afternoon. The wind reached a maximum velocity of forty-two miles an hour and was accompanied by a heavy rain. Several vessels in the bay dragged anchor, but no damage was done by the storm, which was of short duration.

High Wind at Key West.

KEY WEST, FLA., August 12.—A heavy wind prevailed here all day. The steamer Olivette, of the Plant line, did not leave on her regular trip for Havana, and is still in port. The steamer Lampasas arrived from Galveston and sailed for New York. Fears are expressed to night that she will catch the West Indian hurricane, which is reported off Jupiter, Fla.

Storm Yet to Come.

WASHINGTON, August 12.—After receiving to-night's report from the Southern States, Prof. Garrett, chief forecaster of the Weather Bureau, said he did not consider that the West Indian hurricane had yet reached the Florida coast, regarding the high winds of to day at Jupiter and other points in the southern part of the State as a mere forerunner of the storm which is yet to come.

He said it was evident that the center of the hurricane would enter the coast somewhere south of Jupiter. He expressed the opinion that the storm would curve upon hitting the coast, turning northward from the striking point. He expected the hurricane to be felt as far north as Jacksonville and Savannah to-night, and said that in all probability Cape Hatteras would be reached at least by the advanced gales within the next twenty-four hours.

The weekly bank statement shows the following changes: Surplus reserve, increase $6,284,577; loans, decrease $6,395,200; specie, increase, $6,388,800; legal tenders, decrease, $100,200; deposits, increase, $15,300; circulation, increase $140,900. The banks now hold $14,395,375 in excess of the legal requirements.
